A party of policemen and civilians went out all over looking for her but so far no trace of her has been found. The town offers a reward of $75 for her recovery.

VICE-ROYAL VISIT.

Lord and Lady Aberdeen arrived on Monday evening in their private car, "Victoria," attached to the regular train. A large number of people were at the station to meet the train. Inspector Snyder and detachment of police were waiting with teams to convey their Excellencies across the river. They came by way of the lower ferry and were met at the brow of the hill by a large number of citizens. The Edmonton brass band was in attendance and played lively and appropriate airs. Thos. Bourston was also on hand in full Highland costume and played the bagpipes. Acting Mayor Strang welcomed their Excellencies to Edmonton. Their carriage was then driven to Robertson Hall preceded by the band, and followed by a large procession on foot.

The hall was handsomely decorated and the stage was gay with flowers. On the stage beside Lord and Lady Aberdeen were Mrs. Alex. Taylor, president, Mrs. McGuinn, Mrs. S. D. Beck, Mrs. S. S. Taylor, Mrs. Boyal, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Prince, Mrs. W. Johnstone Walker, and Mrs. James Lauder, sr., of the local council of women. Major Griesbach, A. D. C., and R. Munro Ferguson, private secretary to His Excellency, also occupied seats on the stage. Miss A. McLeod, Miss A. Robertson, Miss Richardson, Miss Martin and Miss Roy acted as ushers. The hall was filled by an audience, mostly ladies, who had come to hear Lady Aberdeen's promised address to the Local Council of the National Council of Women, of which she is founder and president. The proceedings were opened with silent prayer.

Lord Aberdeen gave a short introductory address.

A paper describing the Women's Council and its work in Edmonton was then read by the president, Mrs. Alex. Taylor. Mrs. W. Johnstone Walker, corresponding secretary, and Mrs Beck, recording secretary of the local council, also read their several reports.

Lady Aberdeen expressed her pleasure at again meeting the members of Edmonton council, and mentioned that since the organization of the council here last year she had often mentioned the action of Edmonton as an example to other places. She had been disappointed that Edmonton council was unable to be represented at the annual meeting in Toronto, but was satisfied that the reason which existed last year would not be in the way of the representation of the local council in Montreal next year. As the local council had not been represented at the annual meeting the president (the speaker) had come to give an account of the proceedings. She also desired to express her thanks and those of His Excellency for the welcome accorded them and to the ladies who had decorated the hall. As to the work of the National Council for the year. Sixteen different councils had reported as well as five nationally organized federated societies. Delegates were present from Vancouver to Halifax, and the reports given were most interesting. Those who attended the meeting in Toronto were not left in doubt as to the work and objects of the council. Each local council showed that it had grasped the work—that they were each developing according to their own needs. They were glad to hear that in all councils all sections of the community were represented—all the different churches and classes making every council a representative body for voicing the feelings and wishes of the women of the place. The council in each case is made up of a federation of societies which exist in some form or other for the good of the district, and therefore those at the head of these societies may justly be held to be the most earnest minded women of the place; so that the council may be said to represent the best thought and work of the women of Canada. Three main things had been attempted by the National Council apart from the individual work carried on at different places. One of them was the introduction of manual training in the public schools. As a result of their efforts in Ontario, the provincial government has promised that teachers will be empowered to introduce manual education into the schools. One of the councils had determined to take time by the forelock and for the last three months had been training teachers in sewing, cooking and other domestic arts, with the view of their being able to give this training. The subject will also be brought up at next session of the British Columbia legislature. This was something that had been done and the speaker thought there was a pretty unanimous feeling that it would be to the advantage of our daughters and indeed of our sons also if they were taught some of these domestic arts in the school. Another matter which had engaged the attention of the National Council had been the appointment of female inspectors in factories. This of course only applied where factories existed, but was plainly very necessary there. The Ontario government had appointed a female factory inspector some two months ago and the Quebec government had promised to appoint one, this year. There again a definite step had been taken, and the provincial governments did not object to the women's council claiming some credit in the matter. Again the appointment of police matrons had engaged the attention of many councils. The Quebec government had made new arrangements which enable women who have been arrested to be much better looked after and to have a female superintendent of their own. There again is a definite result. It is natural that the authorities should look for the advice of the women and especially of the women workers of the country to help them in these matters. As one gentleman put it at a meeting: These councils should be looked upon in a sort of way as the wives of the governments of the provinces, in the same way as a wife may help her husband and throw out suggestions in such a way as to be most helpful. (Applause) The council is not formed to obtain what is called women's rights, but simply to enable women to accomplish their duty better and with higher aim than they have ever done before; to enable them to join hands in accomplishing women's mission and women's duty. (Applause.) As to the work of the local councils. In one place they have taken steps towards a free library. In another place to form associated charities for the relief of distress. In another to provide training for servants. In another to establish a kindergarten for the training of blind children. Another a kindergarten. Another a maternity hospital. Another place is endeavoring to provide district nurses. And in the very smallest council (in East Kootenay) the ladies have banded together to form a small district hospital as well as a kindergarten. A society in connection with the Council was started at Nipegon, Ont., by three women. They now number fifteen, and they find plenty of things to do to bring them closer together and enable them to do something for each other. They established a newspaper and magazine society, each giving a contribution of the news they thought most of, thus having a pleasant meeting while going on with their work. The National Council asked the local councils to take up this year the work of inducing the newspapers to suppress the publication of unnecessary details of crime and brutality. The resolution, which brought up the question, was sent in by the Toronto local council and was as follows: Resolved "That the National Council of Women of Canada do hereby accord their appreciation of the efforts made by many of the leading newspapers of the Dominion to suppress the publication of unnecessary details of crime and brutality so certain to have an injurious effect on the public mind and especially on the minds of the young, and their determination to use their influence to support every endeavor to increase and maintain a high tone in the public press." We should remember that the newspapers supply just what the public demand, and if we want good high toned newspapers, we must show that we appreciate them. Literature of a most poisonous character is being introduced into Canada in most cases unknown to parents and guardians of children. Of course when such literature is discovered in transit through the mails, it is destroyed. Sometimes it is introduced in the way of games and under cover of cards. We ask each of our local councils to appoint a committee to enquire into the facts regarding this matter in their district. In the meantime teachers and parents should be kept on the alert, in order that this poisonous stuff should not obtain wider circulation. Another matter which was perhaps not applicable to Edmonton was whether any steps could wisely be taken to shorten the length of hours of employment for women and children. Facts on this subject and views of the working women themselves are being collected. As the full reports of the proceedings of the council would soon be published, the speaker would not go over all the resolutions that had been passed, but would earnestly ask any who were interested in the work of the council to read the full report, giving the papers and the speeches which have been made in connection with the council. The little report which is sent out free contains much useful information, but the large report is a very different thing. The papers contributed are in many cases extremely good, full of thought and wise advice. She hoped that ladies who had them would allow the gentlemen to have a look at them too. Several of the speeches contained were made by gentlemen. Rev. Father Ryan, representing Archbishop Walsh who was unable to be present, made a magnificent speech which was contained in the report, Dr. Potts, representing the Methodist church, Rev. Mr. Macdonnell, representing the Presbyterian church, Professor Clark, the Church of England, and Hon. G. W. Ross, the Ontario minister of education, were present. Mr. Ross asked if the ladies could not do something to make the school houses brighter and cheerier for the children by hanging pictures, having gardens and so on. Public men of both political parties in the Dominion had expressed themselves both then and at other times in favor of the council's work, believing especially from their point of view that it will be instrumental in bringing about a greater unity of feeling and action, as distinct from uniformity. The great need of this country is greater unity. That all the different races, creeds and sections of thought should learn to live together in unity, not merely in toleration of one another. When the men are engaged in controversial matters with one another, women of their families can meet together, and often may soften down any feelings which might otherwise prevail. From this point of view therefore the council is engaged in a purely patriotic work (applause). Sir John Thompson and Mr. Laurier had both expressed themselves on this subject. They felt that there is a great opening for the council to do the work of bringing together the women of this country, both as regards the different provinces, as well as regards different races and creeds and of deepening their consciousness that they are united in one common purpose by the golden links of love, and that so they can be the means of bringing the whole people together. (Applause). The speaker expressed herself as very pleased that the Edmonton council had agreed with the majority of the National Council in its adoption of the practice of commencing the meetings with silent prayer. It was a great misfortune that through one or two headlines in the papers a start had been given to the idea that in any way the council wished to reject the Lord's prayer. The speaker asked: "How could that be ladies with the object which we have in view in our councils? The very basis of our councils is the spirit of the Lord's prayer. But we recognize that we are a National Council, and as such we want to represent every section of the people of Canada, and therefore we do not want to impose the slightest difficulty on anyone who may come and belong to our council. Silent prayer therefore is the most Christian and the most real form of recognition of our dependence on our Heavenly Father." The Edmonton council had expressed the desire that individual members should be allowed to vote in council matters. The St. John council had expressed the same wish. The speaker explained that the National Council was a federation of societies not of individuals, and so voted by societies. The only individuals having votes being those officers chosen by the whole council. It would undoubtedly conflict with the basis of the organization if individuals voted. In the National Council each local council has six votes, just as in the local councils each society has four votes. Persons not members of societies might join and would have the right to speak, but not to vote. The ladies who had joined as individuals might form a society amongst themselves, for some special purpose, as the Aberdeen association for the dissemination of literature amongst the settlers in out of the way districts. This society was first formed some three years ago in Winnipeg, and there are now branches at Halifax, Toronto, Winnipeg, Ottawa, Vancouver and Calgary. These members of the Aberdeen association appeal to their friends for magazines and papers and send out parcels of literature once a month. From the letters sent by some of the recipients the reader would be surprised and touched to see what a magazine can be in the lives of some of those hardworking, heroic pioneers throughout the country. Arrangements for free postage on such parcels can be made. Should it be decided to help the people in the northern part of the country the secretary of the Aberdeen association Mrs. Gordon, Rideau Hall, Ottawa, would give all advice as to how it is to be carried out.

"How can we summage the work of our council? Of course we can take the basis of our council and remind ourselves that its main object is to further the application of the golden rule, to society custom and law." That tells us what the work of the council can be. It is a wide basis. It excludes none and can include all. But we might put it in another way. I think we may say that it means, if we take this aim and make it our own that we mean thereby to show that we mean in very deed the prayer that we pray day by day. "Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is done in Heaven." That we mean to carry into action that prayer. For what is the Kingdom of God? Our Lord uses many similies to tell us what it means. He told us it was like the seed working through the hard ground and making its way up gradually and slowly. That it was like the leaven, gradually spreading its influence and permeating and regenerating the society in which it finds itself. He tells us that the Kingdom of God is not meat and drink. It does not appeal therefore to our senses. It is righteousness, peace and joy in the Holy Ghost. Therefore it means a love for righteousness; a passion for all that is just, and true and pure. It means souls aflame with the desire to do the very best according to the light vouchsafed to them. It means a determination to live according to the highest that we know; scorning all those miserable aims which end with self and self-advancement, and self indulgence. It means to try, not only ourselves, to observe the golden rule in all things, but to help others to carry it out: And these are the aims of our councils. We recognize that this kingdom of God must come first to the individual soul, in the full surrender of the whole being to the doing of the holy will of God at all times and in all places. But that being so, in order to further the coming of this kingdom in our homes, in our communities, in our country, we need associated effort, and this associated effort it is which this council seeks to provide amongst the women of this country. It seeks to uphold a high ideal before the women of this country and to remind them that they have a great mission before them. We must see to it, we who are mothers, and all those who have the charge of children in any way, that they shall grow up realizing their heritage. That they shall grow up with aims and desires which will not simply have to do with success in this life, but that their education, the books they read, the amusements in which they partake shall teach them that the great possession with which to start life is character—high character. That is the great thing. I believe our council will also help us in this. I have always said that our great object in this council is to lay stress on the importance of those essential home duties and on the need of receiving knowledge to carry them out rightly, and to do all in our power to increase the influence and sanctity of the home, knowing that if we do this we are doing that which will have far reaching consequences throughout the whole country. We must bring up our children to understand what a privilege it is to belong to this country, to realize what true liberty, true freedom, true democracy, mean, or the responsibilities attaching to these privileges. That is the work for the mothers of this country. They should realize that each one has a duty to the country to serve it as well as they can. That mothers and wives and daughters and sisters have a duty in making the social tone, the social life of our towns and villages such that the generations coming after us shall reap the benefit in a heritage of an inspiring record of high aims worthily carried into noble lives, so that another step further on may have been taken, and the kingdom of God may in very truth be helped forward by our efforts in helping one another to keep in view these high ideals. Therefore, ladies, when you say that there is little for you to do here at present, allow me respectfully to say that I do not think that that is the case, for you are laying the foundation of a great district and what you make this place now it shall be to those who come after; and if you bear this responsibility ever in mind—and all agree it is the women who give a place its tone—if you do this in the spirit suggested by our council you will be accomplishing a work the results of which will never end either in this world or the next. (Applause.)

Lord Aberdeen expressed the thanks of himself and Lady Aberdeen for the reception that had been accorded them and the attention that had been paid. He humorously remarked that he was particularly obliged to the ladies who had been the means of giving him the opportunity to hear his wife make a speech.

A collection was taken up to defray the expenses of the hall.

God Save the Queen was then sung, after which a large number of the ladies were presented to their Excellencies.

At the close of the proceedings their Excellencies, and the officers of the local council, the lady ushers and other friends were entertained by Mrs. Alex. Taylor at her residence, after which Lord and Lady Aberdeen returned to their private car, which is their home during the trip.

Sir Donald Smith is erecting a summer residence on the historic Glencoe estate, which he purchased last year, scene of the "Massacre of Glencoe," situated amid the wildest and most picturesque scenery of Scotland, for occasional occupation during his brief visits to his native land.

Prince Albert Times: The vote polled Friday last on the by-law to exempt the H. B. Co's. flour mill from taxes stood at the close 46 against and 53 for, thus defeating the by-law, as the law requires a two-thirds majority of the vote polled.

CHURCH DEDICATION.

Opening and dedication of Immanuel (Episcopal) church, Wetaskiwin.

A muster of nearly all the clergy of Northern Alberta met the Bishop on Aug. 1st, at Wetaskiwin to open the new church. It is well situated upon high ground half way between the Roman Catholic and Methodist churches. The architect is the incumbent, Rev. C. H. Andras, M. A. The builder Mr. Amos Gile. It has a large triple window on the south side, the middle light being 10 feet high, and is also lighted by four windows set in pairs on each side, and has therefore a cheerful appearance inside. The altar fronted with monogram I. H. S. and lillies is the work and present of Miss Steele, of Pelgan reserve. The incumbent has from the first been actively engaged in raising the structure with his own hands under Mr. Giles' direction. The furniture is very neat, the work of Mr. Charles Gim, and the incumbent. The structure when quite completed will be an additional ornament to the rapidly growing town with its large and handsome school house and three other churches, and a handsome store newly built, by the same builder. Mrs. West, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Compton, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Jacobs, Mrs. Giles, Mrs. T. Ambler and many other ladies prepared a sumptuous feast in the school house where the wonted hospitality of the town to visitors was shown. About 100 sat down with the Bishop and clergy. After the dedication, the Bishop gave an excellent address to a full congregation, recounting the purpose of the Church of England during his experience of 27 years in the Northwest. "Lead Kindly Light," which was Christian Soldiers" were heartily sung as well as an anthem composed by the incumbent entitled "Morning Light," which was well rendered by a union church choir, the spirited singing of the children being specially remarked upon. Rev. A. Standen, Edmonton, Rev. Mr. Gray, of South Edmon, and Rev. Mr. Goodman, of Lamerton, took part in the officiation, while the incumbent presided at the organ. Thirteen dollars was collected at the offertory towards the funds for completion of the building. Holy communion was administered at 7.30 a. m. next morning by the Bishop and the incumbent. There is a growing mission of the church of England on the Battle river where a small church will also soon be erected.

A destructive hail storm occurred north of Indian Head.

The C. P. R. land sales for last month (July) amounted to over $30,000.

C. P. R. traffic for week ending July 21st, $300,000. Same week last year $449,000.

Fourteen cars of cattle were taken from Medicine Hat for shipment to England on one train recently.

A. W. Ross, M. P., for Lisgar, Man., has tendered his resignation; to be withdrawn if he gets some specified appointment.

A Winnipeg dealer proposes to make an experimental shipment of butter to Japan and China and accompany it himself.

A Qu'Appelle telegram to the Free Press says that the friends of Hon. W. D. Perley, Northwest senator, are urging that he get a seat in the cabinet.

Barley cutting is in progress in the vicinity of Emerson, Man. From all parts of the province reports come of a heavy crop and an early harvest. Wheat cutting will commence from the 15th to the 20th of August.

The profits of the H. B. Co., last year were £60,275, which paid a dividend of 12 shillings per share. Land sales and interest were £18,479 against £28,849 last year. Municipal taxation was £1,500 lower than last year.

An Ottawa correspondent of a Toronto paper, says: The opinion amongst those politicians who are in town is that the speech delivered by Hon. Controller Wallace at the Orange grand lodge at Halifax has rendered his resignation imperative. The grand sovereign's address is freely criticized in political circles.

Free Press, Aug. 3: A party of thirty-five French settlers from Normandy arrived from the east yesterday, on their way to the settlement of Bon Remy, near Prince Albert, to which about sixty-five families have gone this year. Officer Cloutier, of the immigration hall staff, attended to their many wants while they were in the city.

The first car of this season's wheat sold in Minneapolis was No. 2 northern and brought 68½ cents, as against 54 cents paid for the first car, No. 1 northern sold last year. The St. Paul Pioneer Press figures out that this means $16,675,000 more to the Northwestern States on a crop 115 million bushels than would have been obtained last year.

Wheat cutting has started near Brandon, Man.

The government has reduced the price of homestead land in Kamloops district, British Columbia, from $5 to $1 per acre.

Free Press: The Soo road has voluntarily raised the wages of its brakemen, to go into effect Aug. 1. Some little time ago the pay of the engineers was advanced and it is now understood that the salaries of all the remaining employees are to be treated in the same way. Brakemen have their wages put back to the same basis as that before the first cut in August 1893.

Free Press: Arrangements have been almost completed for the extension of the C. P. R. system into the Kootenay district of British Columbia, so that all centres will be served by the railway, and if possible, the smelting of ore from Kootenay mines will also be done in Canada. A fast train service over the company's line between Montreal and the Pacific it is expected will be inaugurated in the spring.

A rumor has been telegraphed from Winnipeg to the effect that if the Greenway government of Manitoba does not offer some compromise on the school question they will be dismissed from office by Lieutenant Governor Schultz. The consultation of Premier Bowell, Minister of interior Daly, and Lieutenant Governor Schultz at Vancouver, is supposed to lend color to the report.

Moose Jaw Times: "There are a few points in the above which our North-West members and senators might, with profit, give study to. They have a habit of going about the country with expanded chest, pointing to the railway, the Indian department, the Police force, as evidences of the bulging generosity of the Dominion government towards the North-West. They are careful on these trips not to talk of the Royal Military College, the Perth canal, or the hundreds of millions with which eastern railways and waterways of doubtful utility have been subsidized within the past ten years."

Moose Jaw Times: A Conservative journal, commenting upon the present difficult position of that party, says: 'The failure to hold conventions and the long period of cabal control of the conservative party and its policy has brought its punishment upon that organization. For years, a handful of men, not all of commendable character, have governed the party, and formulated its platform, without consulting the rank and file and with scant attention to voters who compose the party. This is emphasizing a remark made by Grand President Braithwaite P. of I., in the speech made by him some months ago at Moose Jaw. He said: "The prevailing system has been for our masters at Ottawa or Winnipeg to select men to represent us; they say, 'these be your gods, O Israel.' A convention sits; the gods are endorsed; we worship."

The River Yukon, which is navigable for small craft for nearly 2,000 miles, runs for about one-third of that distance through Canadian territory and for the balance of the distance to the ocean through Alaska. There are at present two American steamers navigating it. The Canadian Pacific navigation company is desirous of putting a Canadian steamer on the upper Yukon to navigate the Canadian section of the river and take supplies to the gold fields, which are wholly in British territory. For this purpose a steamer is being built in sections in Victoria, B. C., and will be taken to St. Michael's, at the mouth of the Yukon, in Alaska, where she will be put together in bond, under permission of the United States customs authorities, and sail up the river to British waters. Thus, being built in Canada and taken in bond through the United States she will escape the payment of duty. As already stated, she is intended for use in taking supplies to the gold fields.

Refering to the school question a prominent Manitoba politician recently said to the Free Press: "The attorney-general in the house stated in the course of his speech upon the school question, that he had been charged with winking at an infraction of the present school law, in that he had allowed the school house in a certain district, where many Catholics lived, to be used for the purpose of holding religious exercises after school hours. He replied to this charge that in his opinion the trustees who gave their consent to the use of the building for religious instruction by any denomination whatsoever, acted wisely, and were to be commended. He did not care whether the schools were used for Catholic teaching or Methodist Sunday school observances, after school hours; and this reply contained the matter. It may be taken for granted that the existing school law will be undisturbed. The form of religious exercise prescribed by the law for use in schools will be adhered to but nothing is farther from the truth than to suppose that the government intends to act in an arbitrary manner towards Catholics. On the contrary, what may be done by an attitude of conciliation will be done, and I have no doubt that if the province is let alone, and allowed to settle this matter itself without hinderance from Ottawa or fomenting of strife by the priests, that in a very short while the school question will have been entirely forgotten, and the educational system of the province be upon a harmonious and satisfactory footing.

The three men entered were Jack Allen, of Toronto; Moosewa, of Edmonton; and Jonas, a Stoney Indian. All three men were in the pink of condition. The track was very fast, a slight wind being in the back of the sprinters. The officers of the course were: Judges, Inspector Stearns, N. W. Mounted Police; R. B. Ferguson, and Walter Scott; referee, D. McDonald; timers, James Scott, Qu'Appelle; Fred McArthur, Winnipeg; and Sol. Macdonald, Portage la Prairie. The starter was Mr MacCaul, of Regina. In the first heat Allen got away five feet over Moosewa, but nevertheless, he had to run, and managed to win by a small margin, Moosewa making a terrific spurt at eighty yards. Allen won; time 10 1-5 seconds. In the second heat the runners got away most closely, but Allen was in the lead by two feet, which in the first fifty, he increased to six feet. At seventy yards four feet separated them; at ninety, three feet, and Allen won by about two feet in 10 seconds flat. Jonas, the Stoney Indian, was not far behind, and what is more remarkable, he ran in his bare feet. Allen wins $25 and a gold medal; and Moosewa takes $15. Next Thursday they run a 440 yards race.

SCHOOL MEETING.

The regular monthly meeting of the trustees of the Edmonton public school district was held in the secretary's office on August 6th.

The authorization of the lieutenant governor to borrow $5,000 for the purpose of a school site and erection of a school was read.

A letter of acceptance of position of principal by K. W. Mackenzie for a term of six months was read.

The following accounts were passed:

Salaries for July,	$201.32
F. H. Andrews stationery,	2.85
E. L. Smith Co., stationery,	25

P. Umbach's account of $6.00 for clearing brush was passed, subject to certificate by M. McCauley.

The secretary reported that he had rented the building lately used as a Salvation army barracks at $5 for storage of seats from Fraser avenue school from 30th June to 15th August, and rented the same building as a school room from August 15th until the new school building is completed at $10 a month. On motion of Cameron—Lauder the secretary's action was confirmed.

Mr. Bellamy was appointed a committee to see that the seats were placed in the newly leased school room and the building made ready for occupation.

It was decided that the three junior departments of the public school should open on Monday next, August 12th, and the senior department on the 13th, as Mr. Mackenzie would arrive on the 12th.

Winnipeg Tribune: As the attitude of the Manitoba government toward the remedial order, as well as its suggestion regarding an investigation, have been entirely ignored by the Dominion government, its latest communication would seem to savor somewhat of insolence. The Dominion government should be informed in the most unmistakable language that the province of Manitoba declines to be an actor in the farce which the Ottawa combination is now putting on the boards.

A SECRET WON.

(Most humbly dedicated to Her Excellency the Countess of Aberdeen.)

Where Summer makes her holiday.
In genial wood, with lavish hand
She scatters bloom; a radiant land
Attests the bounty and the grace
Of her well chosen trysting place;
And sprightly minions, at her call,
Speed gayly to the carnival.

Old Borreas may walk afar;
And eye askance the Summer Queen;
She recketh not his churlish spleen,
But, laughing, bids him do his worst,
To vent his wrath. An idle burst—
She smiles; his chilling breath is warmed,
By her soft southern magic charmed.

"Nay, fret not, thou old Arctic King!"
She blithely laughs, "Thy banners raise,
"In our despite! Auroras blaze!
"'Tis idle sport—for we shall stay
"The limit of our holiday,
"Transmuting to a tonic charm
"The nibbling ye invent to harm."

"Blow chill and harsh, oh Borreas!
"We change the icy shafts to tears,
"And lo! e'er yet the storm appears
"Where'er they fall a thousand eyes
"Of blooms, that sleps in Paradise!
"Awake to lend their cheery cheer—
"Adoring glances—to their Queen."

* * * * * * * * *

Ah Countess! As ye fondly gaze
Upon Alberta's flowery meads,
To graceful ye her grace accedes;
Her secret ye have won:
This is the nook where summer plays,
Regaining vigor that she needs
To face a southern sun.

"A NORTHERN FARMER."

EDMONTON, 8th August, 1895.

VICE-ROYAL VISIT.

On Tuesday Lord and Lady Aberdeen drove to Stony Plain Indian reserve, accompanied by an escort of mounted police under Insp. Snyder. They were entertained at luncheon by Count de Cazes, Indian agent, with a party of guests from Edmonton, amongst whom were: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Roy. Mr. and Mrs. Edmiston, Dr. and Mrs. Royal, Mr. and Mrs. J. Royal, J. H. Picard, H. De Roux, and Thos. Spence. An address was presented to Lord Aberdeen by the Indians, to which he made a suitable reply.

From Stony Plain their Excellencies proceeded to St. Albert by way of Long lake. The bells were rung on their approach and they were received by Bishop Grandin at his palace. D. Maloney, M. L. A., H. W. McKenney and other leading citizens were present. Their Excellencies viewed the grounds and buildings, and left for Edmonton at about 7 o'clock.

On Wednesday Lord Aberdeen visited Fort Saskatchewan, leaving Edmonton at 12 o'clock. The party reached Fort Saskatchewan about 2:30. His Excellency was entertained at lunch by Major and Mrs. Griesbach. He visited the various departments of the fort and on leaving at 4:30 he made a short address to the members of the force. The party reached Edmonton about 7 o'clock. Lady Aberdeen did not go to Fort Saskatchewan, but visited the new hospital and called upon several of the ladies of Edmonton during the afternoon, joining Lord Aberdeen at Mrs. Snyder's. They then drove accross the river and left by special train at 8:30 p. m.
